

Green School Recognition Program

Boca Prep International School

Part B: Summary of Green School Activities

Boca Prep International School is a member of a group of schools collectively known as International Education Systems (IES). Sister schools include those in South Africa, Hungary and England, in collaboration with their Spanish counterparts throughout Central America, South America and Spain. Boca Prep is operated on the principles of the International Baccalaureate program which promotes international mindedness and awareness with a strong sense of personal responsibility for positive environmental change and global peace.

This year, Boca Prep's administration, students and staff have committed themselves to promoting a greener future for all by implementing policies that bring about more widespread environmental consciousness. These policies include, incorporating environmental education units school wide into the curriculum, promoting increased use of technology in classrooms and increasing the availability of recycling bins per classroom and around the school. Our "green team" includes the Head and Assistant head of school, the upper school biology and chemistry teachers and select members of the Ecology club who have shown their commitment to a better future through consistent attendance and participation.

We here at Boca Prep are "green" in more ways than one and dedicate ourselves to the promise of a better tomorrow, for in the end, "there's no place like home."
